

PEPPER

Toni Charlesworth

Resumo de Pepper

When her husband suddenly calls it quits after twenty-five years of marriage, Pepper Miller moves to Denver to find a new life for herself. She wants nothing more than to have fun and go a little crazy in her journey of finding herself and maneuvering through her new life as a single woman.

Dating is foreign territory after two failed marriages, and at fifty-five, Pepper would like nothing more than to make all the right moves and decisions of a woman of her age, stature, and wisdom.

Instead, Pepper makes mistakes, has more sex than she could imagine, and still wants nothing more than to find her perfect man. Pepper is entertainingly humorous and beautiful, a sexually charged tigress and yet a lamb in her own mind.
