Resumo de Chances

CHANCES In high school, I thought I'd end up with James. In college, I thought I'd end up with Alex. As the years went on being with Alex wasn't what I wanted anymore.

I wasn't being loved and cared for, I was being neglected and forgotten. After the final straw I had enough and started my life over. Being alone for the first time in almost six years.

Little did I know, my high school reunion was right around the corner and maybe a second chance to be with James too. But was that what i wanted? Who doesn't want to end up with their high school sweetheart?

or is there someone else out there for me?
