

PEACE AGREEMENTS

and Durable Peace in Africa

A landscape photograph showing a winding river in a dry, hilly region. The terrain is covered in sparse, dry vegetation. In the foreground, a single, tall, thin tree stands on the right. The background shows rolling hills under a clear sky.

Edited by
Grace Maina and Erik Melander

Resumo de Peace Agreements and Durable Peace in Africa

Peace agreements have become necessary and legitimate tools for resolving conflicts and bringing about durable peace. This book carefully analyzes African experiences with peace processes in order to identify how these can be enhanced to ensure positive and sustainable peace in strife-ridden areas.

Case studies from eight African countries provide a unique opportunity to understand the factors that promote or undermine the success of peace agreements. The agreements studied include those of Angola, Burundi, Chad, Cote d'Ivoire, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Somalia, South Sudan, and Uganda.

The selection is based on the fact that they were finalized prior to 2005 and therefore allow for a richer analysis of their successes and shortfalls. The book will inform better practice in articulating and implementing peace agreements in Africa.

[Subject: African Studies, Peace Studies, International Relations, Politics]

Acesse aqui a versão completa deste livro